Recognizing these truths, the national democracy will seek, by the application of just and sound principle o equalize to our people the blessing ue them from the government they support, to promote among our country men a closer community of interests cemented by patriotism and national pride, and to point out a fair field where prosperous and diversified Amer

ment of oar government depend upon popular will. Federal power is the instrument of that will—not its master. Therefore, the attempts of the opponents of democracy to interfere with and control the suffrage of the states through federal agencies develops a design, which no explanation can mitigate, to reverse the fundamental and safe relations between the people and their government. Such an attempt con not fail to be regarded by thoughtful men as proof of a bold determination to secure the ascendency of a discretized party, in reckless disregard of a free expression of the popular will. To resist such a scheme is an impulse of democracy. At all times and is all places we trust the negative. of democracy. At all times and in all places we trust the people.
